STATE NEWS.

Doings and Happenings of the Day—Occurrences for Weal or Woe.

Gatherings from Over the State Reported Specially for the Gazette by Its Own Reporters.

MINEROLA.

MINEROLA, TEX., Sept. 7.—Mr. J. Elmer died this evening at half-past five o'clock. Dr. Ragan of Dallas was telegraphed for, but was too late.

MCKINNEY.

MCKINNEY, TEX., Sept. 6.—Gov. J. W. Throckmorton, through the McKinney Enquirer, gives his views on the local-option agitation to the voters of Collin county. The governor thinks the measure undemocratic, sumptuary and a relic of witchcraft, and urges his people to vote against its adoption.

The governor's voice was needed, for if there is no change in the sentiment of the people local option will be adopted in this county.

Several bales of cotton were sold here yesterday.

JEFFERSON.

Special to the Gazette.

JEFFERSON, TEX., Sept. 7.—At a conference held in the basement of the Baptist church, it was decided to retain Rev. Dr. Hardwick, who has been conducting a protracted meeting here, as local pastor for the Baptist church. The doctor and his family will be quite an acquisition to our community.

Judge W. P. McLean of Mt. Pleasant was in the city yesterday on his way to Linden, where he will open district court this morning. The Linden court has a very heavy docket this month.

HONEY GROVE.

Special to the Gazette.

HONEY GROVE, TEX., Sept. 7.—The Honey Grove High school, and Mrs. Thompson's primary school opened this morning. The Walcott institution will open on the 21st inst.

Elder J. M. Maddling, of Bridgeport, Illinois, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church on Saturday night and Sunday morning. He left on the afternoon train for Burnett, to attend the meeting of Red River association.

The members of the Baptist church by a unanimous vote at their church conference yesterday, extended a pastoral call to the Rev. R. A. Massey of Navasota, Tex., for the next pastoral year.

Prof. T. M. Cecil began a school at Lane's academy, a few miles from this place this morning.

Reverends R. F. Jones, Sam McKee, M. D. and J. B. Nicholson are conducting a revival meeting at Dial, which commenced Friday night last.

Dr. B. B. Morman, late of Clarksville, has moved his family to this place and opened an office of dentistry.

ATHENS.

Special to the Gazette.

ATHENS, TEX., Sept. 7.—District court convened this morning. Present and presiding, Judge T. A. Williams, and District Attorney J. J. Faulk.

The charge to the grand jury was pointed and concise, setting forth in an elaborate manner the duties incumbent upon a grand juror in ferreting out all acts committed in violation of law.

We have been credibly informed that the trunk railroad is being pushed forward to this place and will reach here probably by the first of January next.

There have been about twenty bales of cotton received at this place up to date. The calculation is this place will receive about 6000 bales this season.

There was a good shower fell this morning, but it came too late to do the cotton crop any good.

The ceremonies of laying the corner stone for the new court-house will be observed on the 17th of this month.

School opened this morning with a full corps of teachers, under the management of Prof. C. Roberts.

Among visiting lawyers we notice Col. T. B. Greenwood of Palestine and Capt. Geo. D. Marion of Kaufman.

GEORGETOWN.

Correspondence of the Gazette.

GEORGETOWN, TEX., Sept. 5.—Once more refreshing showers have gladdened the earth around our little city, and the somewhat drooping prospects have been refreshed. Our city is to-day on a steady, firm, substantial boom; no hasty inflation, but real progress that comes to stay, and justified by the improved condition of our county.

Up to date, 175 bales of cotton have been received here. Owing to the continued drouth in the spring, the cotton is rather late, but since the showers of August the prospect has improved.

Booby Bros. are building two new rock buildings, and adding thirty feet to their already mammoth store. Rucker & Montgomery have just finished an addition of thirty feet to their large establishment, and many more improvements are noticed.

The camp-meeting of the Methodist church has terminated and a protracted meeting is being held at the Methodist church.

The Rev. Dr. Heidt, the new regent of the Southwestern university, has arrived here with his family. The university begins its next session next week.

An artesian well has been sunk out near Wilbarger's Point, two miles from here, and a very fine quality of white sulphur water found in abundance. It is pronounced by our physicians as containing several minerals, and our people are making daily trips to the well.

A building and loan association has been started here.

There is some talk of starting a street car line in our little city.

The prohibition fever has struck our county and our people are manifesting considerable interest in the question.

The telephone line will soon be extended from this place to the town of Florence, about eighteen miles north of here.

A fine rain fell about seven miles north of here yesterday.

Crop prospects are not as flattering as they were last month.

Our people are all pleased to welcome the bright, sparkling, new GAZETTE once more, and all join in a hearty wish for its future great prosperity.

J. Lyman Wesley, M.D., Oculist and Physician.

A few minutes spent at the Hotel Pickwick will suffice to convince the most skeptical that Dr. J. Lyman Wesley, the celebrated oculist, is more than doing all that THE GAZETTE has claimed for him. Some of our best citizens are already taking treatment of him. He furnishes his own medicines, carefully prepared and compounded at the Middlesex Health Sanitarium, Lowell, Mass.

Mrs. Fowler of Dallas is having her little boy treated for paralysis, with marked improvement already.

Mr. Colter of the city came for treatment, but was told by the doctor that his relief would only be temporary, and that he had better rely on his family physician. Mr. Hurtle of Cleburne, has granulated lids. Dr. Wesley cures this affection without the use of bluestone or other irritating applications. A gentleman of Grapevine wanted an operation for a growth on the eyeball, but it had gone too far to be treated.

The doctor has a great many examinations to make every day, which he does without asking any questions of the patient. He treats chronic cases and diseases of the eye exclusively. Mr. Arnet, of Abilene had a tumor removed from his scalp without scarcely any loss of blood. The doctors treat patients at their homes or at the office, and will send the Middlesex Journal to any one sending a stamp.

The Great Show.

Barrett's circus which will exhibit here on Monday the 14th inst., is spoken of as follows:

"With canvass spread within the enclosure of Central Park, on the corner of Market and Eighth streets, opposite the new city hall Barrett's menagerie and circus is favored with a protected location which no other show of the kind has ever enjoyed. Outside guardians at the main entrance prevent any except the entitled ones to enter, so that at the general entrance of the pavilion there is neither crowding nor jostling to pass the ticket taker. Once within the menagerie tent the visitor is struck with the spacious surroundings, which are particularly marked for their neatness and arrangements. The hardened asphaltum-like floor is a pleasure to tread compared with the uneven surface usually necessary to pass over to get a glimpse of the curiosities within, comprising wild animals and strange brute creatures, requiring a comfortable hour for inspection. Passing to the circus tent the same regularity and completeness in arrangement is to be seen everywhere, betokening an entertainment of like freshness and pleasure to the eye. Although the course of circuses is always the same in generalities, the programme of each varies much in execution. It is not fulsome praise or idle talk to say that to the extent furnished by Barrett, none has ever been better. If even equaled. Without considering the score of artists who contribute to this meritorious enterprise, the galaxy of riders is especially worthy of mention, even as the name of James Robinson, Robert Stuckney, Emma Lake and Viola Rivers have been at the head of equestrianism, and this quartet, with thoroughly trained steeds, positively appear at each exhibition and should be seen for a thorough enjoyment of all that is artistic and daring. Otherwise an immense variety of features move on in the two rings and upon the raised platform, which demand continued attention, such as acrobats, gymnasts, trapezists, bicyclists, skaters, aerial flights, trick donkeys, feats of strength, Japanese diversities, Indian club swinging, wire walking, clown burlesques and antics, which demand applause, the whole concluding with a grand exhibition of horsemanship by those two monarchs of the ring, James Robinson and Robert Stuckney, when four and six horses are handled with that dexterity known only to these daring equestrians. Every attention is paid to the comfort of the patrons, and for the accommodation of those reserving seats. Several of the most courteous and best-dressed ushers take special care of ladies and children who are accompanied by more protective arms than those supplied by the management. The circus deserves good patronage."—[San Francisco Daily Alta California, Sunday, August 2.]

LAMPASAS SPRINGS.

Great Health and Pleasure Resort.

This place has justly earned the reputation of being the great health and pleasure resort of the Southwest. For mercurial, rheumatic, catarrhs and kidney diseases, these waters are the most certain auxiliary and specific known. The hotels are conceded to be the best in the country. The San Gerónimo, centrally and delightfully located corner Fifth and Main streets, is one of the most comfortable, elegantly furnished and best ventilated houses in the state, which, with its excellent cuisine and moderate rate of $2 per day and special rate to parties by the week or month, make the San Gerónimo a great favorite. Two sample rooms on first floor, twenty feet square each—best in the state.
